

By Angela

Cardinal

This bird is a cardinal The Cardinal is 7-9 inches tall. The female northern cardinal sings, often from the nest.

A habitat is the place where a bird lives. Its nest is made of twigs and grasses. It is lined with hair and is placed among bushes.

Its makes clear slurred whistle sounds. The brighter red boys get more girlfriends. It eats seeds, insects, and fruits.

It lays 3 to 4 white eggs that are spotted with brown . The boy Cardinal gives the girl Cardinal food to feed the babies.

